

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention provides a MP3 voice recording/playing device. Instead of comprising a memory module, the MP3 voice recording/playing device
5 according to the present invention is connected to an external storage device so as to avoid the complicated process. The user has not to install the driver of the MP3 voice recording/playing device in the computer and has not to connect the MP3 voice recording/playing device to the computer via a transmission line in order to download the music. Therefore, the present invention can greatly
10 reduce the cost and promote the efficiency.